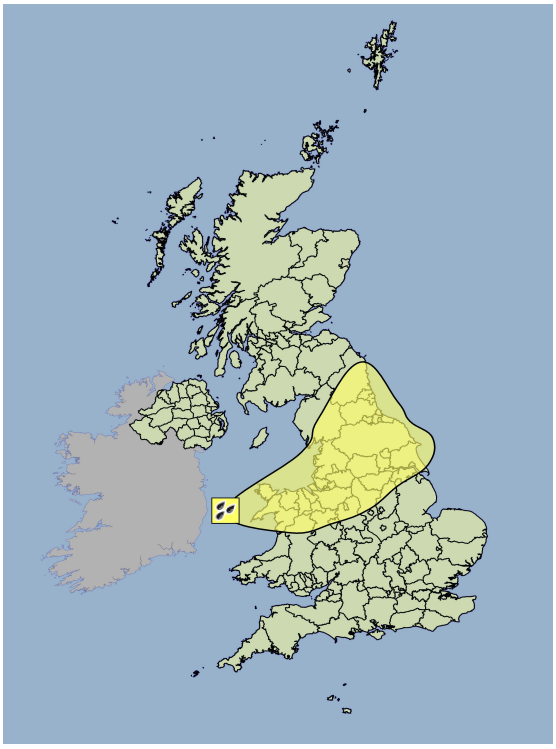
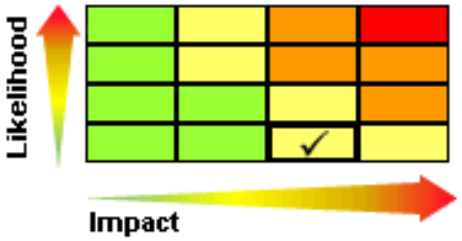
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
A rapidly deepening depression is expected to track across Britain on Monday, bringing heavy rain and strong winds to many areas of England and Wales. The most likely outcome at this stage is that northern parts of England and north Wales should escape the worst of the wind (see the separate wind warnings if you are traveling southwards) but will be affected by some intense rainfall.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Alert of Rain

Valid from 00:00 on Mon, 28th Oct 2013 until 23:59 on Mon, 28th Oct 2013

A spell of persistent heavy rainfall is likely to spread across northern parts of both Wales and England during Monday.

The public should be aware of the potential for surface water flooding.
